

NORTHROP FRYE 100 A DANUBIAN PERSPECTIVE

Call for Papers

The Institute of English Studies and the Centre for Hermeneutical Research at Károli Gáspár University of the Reformed Church in Hungary (www.kre.hu) and the School of English and American Studies at Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest (www.elte.hu), are proud to announce an international conference in honour of

NORTHROP FRYE

on the centenary of his birth to be held in Budapest on 7–8 September 2012.

Northrop Frye remains one of the most quoted scholarly authors of the twentieth century, who addressed a wide range of cultural, social and religious issues far beyond what is traditionally called literature. Because of his interdisciplinary approach, his comprehensive grasp of our common cultural heritage and his imaginative treatment of the Bible, the study of his work promises to yield valuable insights into our age of multiculturalism and spiritual quest.

Keynote speakers include

Robert D. Denham

John P. Fishwick Professor of English, Emeritus, Roanoke College

Professor Péter Dávidházi

Hungarian Academy of Sciences and Eötvös Loránd University

Conference papers are welcome on any aspect of Northrop Frye's oeuvre in either English or Hungarian. Presentations will be 20 minutes with an additional 10 minutes for questions and discussion. Abstracts of papers (maximum 250 words) and a one-paragraph CV for those planning to deliver papers should be submitted by e-mail to the organizers at budapestfryeconference@gmail.com

by 15 April 2012.

The organizers will notify participants of the acceptance of their proposals by 1 May 2012.
